   "© ACM, (YEAR). This is the author's version of the work. It is posted here by permission of ACM for your personal use. Not for redistribution. The definitive version was published in PUBLICATION, {VOL#, ISS#, (DATE)} http://doi.acm.org/10.1145/nnnnnn.nnnnnn"

C. Third-Party Material (See Policy, §2.1 Requirement for Copyright)

The requirement to obtain third-party permission does not apply if the author embeds only a link to the copyright holder's definitive version of the object.

Third-party permission must be clearly stated near the object(s) or in the text narrative. Indicate below any third-party material included in this submission. Please be specific, i.e., type of material: figure, table, photo, music, video or other image, and note whether permission is approved (Y/N) and forwarded to ACM with your submission. (Use a separate sheet if additional space is required.)

TO: Authors Submitting Papers for Publication by ACM
FROM: ACM Director of Publications
SUBJECT: ACM Copyright Procedures

Thank you for submitting a paper for publication by ACM, Inc. ACM's publications are read throughout the world and we must manage requests for reprinting, republishing, redistributing, digitizing, posting to servers, translating, anthologizing, and other actions. It is the policy of ACM to own the copyright on its technical publications to protect the interests of ACM, its authors and their employers, and at the same time to facilitate the appropriate reuse of this material by others.

United States Copyright Law requires that the transfer of copyright of each contribution from the author to ACM be confirmed in writing. (See ACM Copyright Policy, §2.1 and §2.2) It is necessary that authors sign either Part A or Part B of the ACM Copyright Form and return it with the manuscript to the publication's editor at the address on the Form, unless otherwise noted, as a condition of publication.

If you are employed and prepared your paper as part of your job, the rights to your paper may initially rest with your employer. In that case, when you sign the ACM Copyright Transfer Form, we assume that you are authorized to do so by your employer. If not, the Form should be signed by an authorized person.

For jointly authored papers, an original signature is required from one (assumed senior) author only. However, we assume that all authors have been advised and have consented to the terms of this Form and this single author acts as duly authorized agent of the others.

Government employees who prepared the work as part of their job, and whose work is not subject to copyright, are not required to sign Part A, but all co-authors outside the Government are so required. Use Part B of the Form instead of Part A only if any or all authors are Government employees, or the work was performed exclusively for a Government agency.

In the case of a Work performed under a Government contract or grant, ACM recognizes that the Government has royalty-free permission to reproduce all or portions of the Work, and to authorize others to do so, for official Government purposes only, if the contract/grant so requires. Authors employed by a civilian agency working under Government contract are required to sign in both Parts A and B. (See Part B above.)

ACM authors have all the rights historically enjoyed by scientific authors, including the right to present orally the submitted (or similar) material in any form or media and the right to republish in works published by or for the employer for the employer's internal business purposes, with notice and credit to ACM. They retain all proprietary rights other than copyright. (See ACM Copyright Policy, §2.4, §2.5 and the Permissions Policy §3).

ACM Authors may post works on public repositories before acceptance but must incorporate the ACM copyright notice upon transfer of copyright. After acceptance, authors may post the work on public repositories only with the explicit permission of ACM.

Re-use of third-party material contained in ACM copyrighted works always requires the consent of the copyright holder, as ACM's copyright does not cover third-party material. (See Part C above.)

Note: Requests made on behalf of others, i.e., for contributions to the work of other authors or other editors, may require payment of the fee.

Although it is not part of ACM's policy to grant authors or their organizations the sole right to approve requests for republishing by third parties, ACM seeks the approval of its authors, for jointly authored papers the first-named (assumed senior) author only, in weighing such requests, whenever possible. This is done as a matter of professional courtesy.
